Councilwoman Naeole Advances LIVE H₂O On the Big Island of Hawaii, June 19-21, 2009

Hilo, HI —The Mayor of Hilo on the Big Island of Hawaii, and all state legislators, are encouraged to decree this Summer Solstice “LIVE H₂O Celebration Weekend,” according to a letter of invitation circulated by Councilwoman Emily Naeole. Her endorsement of LIVE H₂O—an event that promotes peace on earth, world health, and universal prosperity—reflects the view of native Hawaiians that “the Living Water,” like the Earth, is sacred and deserves honoring musically with prayer.

The 5th District of the County of Hawaii councilwoman, who has been bringing prayer back to legislative sessions, urged state officials to welcome LIVE H₂O—a global celebration developed to bring people and all cultures into harmony. The 72-hour celebration features world leading scientists, authors, artists, musicians and native dancers whose presentations will feature the “LOVE Water” theme.

Ms. Naeole wrote, “It will be an honor for the Big Island of Hawaii to host one of the nine international venues planned for this educational celebration that features drug-free living and natural healing in the most creative ways.”

The plan to make the Big Island “concert central” was advanced by Dr. Leonard G. Horowitz, an award winning public health expert and Big Island resident who serves as Executive Producer of the event.

“We are about to marry the heart of humanity to the “Universal Solvent”—Water, using the “Universal Language”—music, to produce the “Universal Healer”—LOVE,” Dr. Horowitz says. “John Lennon’s Revolution called for a plan to change the world, and we believe this plan can do it.”

Event planners intend to broadcast, for the first time in history, more than 144,000 voices using the Internet, interactive media, and advanced communications technologies, to fulfill ancient native and Bible prophecies honoring “The Living Water.” Hawaii’s Big Island is viewed as pivotal in their plan. Their loving prayer will bring people worldwide in harmony with the “Creative Juice”—the superconductor of sound—sacred Water, from the largest island in the heart of the largest ocean.
